We'd like to congratulate Lettieri for being recommended as one of the city's best dining values by cheapeats toronto — Toronto's best-selling guide to good and inexpensive restaurants.

Focused on profiling restaurants that serve good food at good prices, cheapeats toronto 2006 is the 3rd edition of this best-selling series, and profiles over 365 restaurants across the GTA where readers can get breakfast for under $5, lunch or brunch for under $10 and dinner for under $15, including a beverage and taxes. Every restaurant in cheapeats toronto 2006 has been recommended to us by a reader, celebrity or through our websites. Along with these recommendations, our contributors profile the restaurants and share their impressions and experiences.

Lettieri is recommended for Lunch (approximately $9.25 including a drink and taxes), with your Panino & Salad ($6.75) suggested as "what to order". Lettieri is also included on the Quick Lists Looking to get Caffeinated? & Looking for a place to journal?

You can be proud that people who look for good food at a reasonable price have recognized Lettieri as one of the best in the city. cheapeats toronto 2006 recommended only 371 out of the thousands of eating establishments across Toronto.

cheapeats toronto restaurant guides have been an annual best-seller at the Cookbook Store and have been featured on Breakfast TV, CBC's Here & Now, The Toronto Sun, CFRB's Marty & Avrum and CP24's consumer report. Food Services & Hospitality Magazine wrote "Move over Zagat, here comes Cheapeats."

We have enclosed a poster so you can let people know that Lettieri has been recommended by cheapeats toronto 2006 as one of Toronto's best dining values.

Congratulations,

G.B. Thorpe, President
